Three Farms Are Burned—

French Swoop Down on Algerian Rebel Unit, Killing 22 of Them

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP)—French Foreign Legionnaires swooped down today on a rebel unit burning French farms in western Algeria and killed 22 of them in a bloody running battle.

Dispatches said the legionnaires, supported by colonial infantry, hit the Algerian nationalists after three farms were burned southwest of Oran.

French troop reinforcements were pouring into the Oran district as rebels stepped up their raids against isolated French settlements. Officials distributed arms to the French farmers.

New violence was feared with the close today of the Moslem Fast of Ramadan. Southwest of Oran, leaflets were scattered calling upon the population to rise in revolt against French rule.

Some French newspapers in Algiers estimated rebel losses since last weekend at up to 1,000. The French have admitted only a handful of soldiers killed and slightly more wounded. In addition, 20 European farmers, wives and children were reported slain in western Algeria last weekend in the initial phase of the new nationalist offensive.

The surge of rebel activity continued unabated. Nationalist bands ranged through the vast central North African territory with torch and submachinegun. The French concentrated on vast military sweeps in western Algeria, where 40 farms were burned early this week, and in the area north of Constantine, east Algeria, where some 45 settlements and farms were attacked Tuesday and Wednesday.

The number of rebel dead in the West was put at 300. In the East some 200 were reported killed.

The French army reported some clashes with the rebels last night in the mountainous Kabylie region in northeast Algeria and near Algiers itself.

The village of Rivet, only 15 miles southeast of Algiers, was under fire for almost an hour. Six rebels were killed in the skirmish.

At least seven rebels were reported killed in the scattered Kabylie fighting, where 20 French outposts were attacked yesterday.

Another stiff battle was reported in progress near the east Mediterranean port of Philippeville. Rebel losses were described as heavy, but no casualty figures were given.

Young Thieves Confess To Three More Thefts

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—Topeka's two little thieves, brothers 7 and 8 years old, who have admitted stealing around $1,200 from a cafe, yesterday confessed to three other thefts.

L. Don Laird, chief of the police youth bureau, said the boys admitted taking $500 from a downtown drug store last week and about $50 from two service stations a month ago.

Laird said their stories checked with known facts but he isn't sure he has heard all of the story yet. Laird said the youngsters again involved older boys in the thefts.

Symington Asks National Water Policy

Advocates 6-Point Program, Stresses Need for a Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) today called for a national policy to insure development and conservation of the country's water supplies.

Advocating a six-point program, Symington said that unless some positive program is followed the country in the not too distant future might find itself without adequate water supplies.

He outlined his views in a speech prepared for the annual convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La.). The organization supports a program of flood control, reclamation and navigation projects.

Symington said the country should work toward these goals in order to preserve and develop its water resources:

A coordinated program of flood control, water storage and power development through construction of multiple purpose reservoirs on water arteries;

A cooperative national and state program to develop local watershed districts to control water runoff;

A strong program to stream pollution;

A national-state program to reclaim water by removal of waste;

A national-state program to develop underground water supplies;

A research program to investigate the possibility of inducing rain through artificial means and to remove salt from sea water.

Weatherman Predicts Drought Until 1966

DENVER (AP)—The current drought cycle in the Great Plains will not end until at least 1966, Albert W. Cook, chief meteorologist here, predicts. He said the drought cycle reached its low ebb in 1954.

Will Organize Sedalia Radio Relay System

Sedalian Is Chosen To Coordinate 'Ham' Emergency Network

N. Gentry Patterson, 1818 South Sneed, has been selected to set up an organization of Sedalia amateur radio operators prepared to furnish organized emergency communications in time of disaster, it was announced today by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay radio amateurs.

Patterson's assignment, which carries the title of emergency coordinator, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communication by hams in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies. In addition to use of normal equipment working from commercial power, amateur stations use self-powered radio transmitting and receiving equipment as needed.

Patterson, as ARRL emergency coordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures, and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations may be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions. His duties also include liaison planning with the local chapter of the American Red Cross and other relief agencies, as suggested in the working understanding the ARRL Emergency Corps has with the national headquarters of the American Red Cross and other agencies. Liaison will be established also with local (Please turn to Page 4, Col. 1)

To Make Up Support Losses—

House Committee Recommends Extra Billion for Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recommended today that Congress boost by more than one billion dollars the budget of the Agriculture Department as compared with this year.

Most of this would go to make up losses on price support programs. The committee sent to the House for consideration next week a bill to provide $1,983,512,568 in new money to finance farm programs in the bookkeeping year which starts July 1.

In a formal report accompanying the bill, the committee complained of "trying times for American agriculture" and said that for three years prior to 1956 President Eisenhower had urged what it termed drastic cuts in department funds.

In all three years, the committee added, Congress restored most of the funds cut from the department's budget by Eisenhower. In the new bill, it cut his requests slightly.

For regular programs of the department, the committee recommended $793,061,708, a budget cut of $3,787,700; for special activities, $271,163,682, no reduction and for corporate expenses $929,287,178, no reduction.

The corporate expenses and the special activities allotments represent almost all the increase over current year appropriations of 883 million dollars. Most of this money goes to the Commodity Credit Corp. to offset heavy losses in administering price support and surplus disposal programs during the present year.

In addition to the cash allotments the bill would authorize department agencies to make repayable loans up to $359,300,000 during the year. The current year figure is 338 millions. These loans are made to farmers and other rural residents for electricity and telephone service and to obtain credit for other farm projects.

Should additional lending authority be needed, the committee approved a contingency loan fund of 150 million dollars.

For the soil conservation, the committee recommended $97,232,000, a budget increase of $5,065,000; for the school lunch program, 100 million dollars, a $16,800,000 boost; for research, $131,069,708 a

BROTHERS IN TROUBLE—Brothers, seven and eight years old, hand over a newly purchased cap pistol and a yo-yo to Chief Don Laird of the Topeka, Kan., police department's youth bureau after their arrest for taking $1200 from the safe in the office of a Topeka cafe. Police recovered $582 of the loot. The boys said they buried the rest of the money at the direction of an older youth, but it was gone when they led police to the site. The money in the open safe was discovered by the eight-year-old who walked through the cafe kitchen and up a stairway to the cafe office while searching for a bathroom after attending a Jesse James movie.

Wants Time for Cease-fire to Work—

Warns Against Pushing Peace Settlement on Israel, Arabs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld has warned the Security Council not to try to impose a peace settlement on Israel and her Arab neighbors.

Reporting on his recent mission to the Middle East, Hammarskjöld said the cease-fire agreements he negotiated could start a chain reaction toward peace.

But he also said (1) a final settlement may still be far off, (2) the initiative must come from the Middle East countries themselves and (3) no attempt must be made to impose a settlement from the outside.

The secretary general returned to New York Sunday after getting Israel and Egypt, Syria, Lebanon and Jordan to reaffirm the cease-fire pledges they made originally in the 1949 armistice agreements.

He recommended no specific steps for the 11-nation Security Council to take. He made clear, however, that he feels both the U.N. and individual countries should limit their role to encouraging and supporting any peace efforts initiated by the Middle East countries themselves.

This was interpreted as an attempt to head off any move by the big powers to step into the picture or any move in the Security Council to take drastic measures.

In contrast to this, British informants in London reported that Western and Soviet diplomats are discussing the advisability of asking Hammarskjöld to go back to the Middle East to promote a permanent Palestine peace settlement. The Arabs previously have rejected all suggestions of such a peace treaty.

Hammarskjöld's report said the new cease-fire agreements were a necessary initial step, which may have opened the door to "new fruitful developments."

He told a city council committee that state employees would remain on standard time. Unless daylight saving time were established on a statewide basis, he said, "it would cause endless confusion and make an intolerable situation."

A chamber of commerce poll and a newspaper poll both had favored the so-called "fast time." But before acting on the proposal, the City Council sent a committee headed by Harvey Hager to sound out the governor.

Hager said Donnelly's rejection of the plan definitely ended the daylight saving campaign.

"We couldn't have it here unless the state would go along, naturally," he said.

Governor Stops Daylight Time In Capital City

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly put his foot down today on a plan to switch to daylight saving time in the Capital City.

He told a city council committee that state employees would remain on standard time. Unless daylight saving time were established on a statewide basis, he said, "it would cause endless confusion and make an intolerable situation."

A chamber of commerce poll and a newspaper poll both had favored the so-called "fast time." But before acting on the proposal, the City Council sent a committee headed by Harvey Hager to sound out the governor.

Hager said Donnelly's rejection of the plan definitely ended the daylight saving campaign.

Leaflets Telling of Action Bears Name of Eoka Leader

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Leaflets distributed anonymously in Nicosia today said two British soldiers had been hanged in reprisal for Britain's execution of two Greek Cypriot rebels.

The leaflets bore the typed signature of Digenis, leader of the underground Eoka (national organization of Cypriot fighters) movement fighting for union of Cyprus with Greece. They said Cpls. Gordon Hill and Ronnie Shilton were hanged yesterday but did not say where.

Hill was missing from his unit since last November. Eoka had previously claimed it held him prisoner.

Shilton has been missing since last month. There have been no previous claims by Eoka about him.

The leaflets were thrown about the streets of Nicosia by boys at noon.

Eoka's claim was the first sign of reprisal against Britain's hanging yesterday of the two Cypriot rebels — 23-year-olds Michael Karais and Andreas Demetriou.

They were convicted of murder and attempted murder, respectively. They were the first Greek Cypriots executed in the 18 months of violence islanders of Greek descent are waging for union of Cyprus with Greece. Eoka's broadside said Hill and Shilton "were hanged as a necessary reprisal for these judicial murders."

Addressed "to British soldiers," the Eoka leaflets said the underground fighters would "answer hanging with hanging, and torture with torture."

"Supported by over 400,000 Greeks of Cyprus, we shall fight day and night for the application to Cyprus of the right to self-determination," they said.

The pamphlet added the two

British corporals were "buried in secrecy and are not being returned to their people, following the example of the occupation forces toward the murdered Greek patriots." Karais and Demetriou were buried behind the walls of Nicosia Central Prison, where they were hanged. A Greek Orthodox priest read a funeral service over their bodies but was not present at the burial.

Government Claims Mental Report Biased

Says Hospital Board Got 'Loaded' Date, Tax Case Was Killed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A psychiatric report which the government contends was "loaded" in favor of a St. Louis shoe manufacturer, charged with income tax evasion, was introduced as evidence today in the fraud conspiracy trial of two former top Truman officials.

The government called Dr. Francis J. Tartaglino of Washington, D. C., to the stand in the trial of T. Lamar Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's tax division; Matthew J. Connelly, former Truman White House secretary, and attorney Harry L. Schwimmer.

Dr. Tartaglino testified that Caudle had requested a three-member board of psychiatrists to examine medical reports of five St. Louis physicians on the health of Irving Sachs, shoe manufacturer who eventually was fined $40,000 in a tax case.

The witness told a jury in the court of U. S. District Judge Ruby M. Hulen that Caudle had advised Dr. Samuel A. Silk, acting superintendent of the St. Elizabeth Hospital at Washington, that he had received conflicting medical reports on Sachs and he wanted the matter resolved.

Dr. Tartaglino said he, Dr. Silk and a third physician of the hospital staff were on the board. The hospital treats persons with nervous and mental ailments.

Gets 3-Year Term For Otterville Bank Theft Last November

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Edward J. Rounds, 28, one of the two men charged with robbing one Missouri bank and with entering another, today was sentenced to serve three years in prison.

Rounds had pleaded guilty to robbing the Bank of Otterville last November and with entering the Farmers' Bank of Gower the same day. The loot in the Otterville robbery amounted to $374.

Henry M. Hinken Jr., 24, who had pleaded guilty to similar charges was sentenced to serve four years.

U. S. District Judge Charles E. Whittaker said Rounds received a lighter sentence because he had cooperated with officers in clearing up the crimes.

Firing Squad Executes Two Men in Utah

Were Convicted Of Slaying Service Station Attendant

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)—Volunteer firing squads executed two men at dawn today for a murder they committed more than six years ago.

The riflemen fired at 5:14 a.m. A doctor pronounced Verne Alfred Braasch and Melvin Leroy Sullivan dead one minute later.

Braasch, 30, of Reinbeck, Iowa, and Sullivan, 25, of Kansas City, Mo., were convicted of the Oct. 22, 1949, slaying of a Beaver, Utah, service station attendant.

They took $20 from the station. Legal action delayed three previously scheduled executions. The execution was at the Utah State Prison, 20 miles south of Salt Lake City.

Shaking hands betrayed the taut nerves of the two killers as they were strapped, side by side, in execution chairs in the prison compound. A shot of morphine administered by a doctor quieted them.

A black hood was placed over the head of each and black heart-shaped targets pinned over their hearts.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Wells from the Iron County, where the pair was convicted, read the death warrants. He then asked the condemned men if they had anything to say. They both said, "no."

Ellsworth Green, Jr. Is Seriously Injured

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—Ellsworth Green Jr., executive director of the Kansas City, Kan., Chamber of Commerce, was reported in fair condition today as the result of a horse riding accident.

Green was riding in Wyandotte County Lake Park yesterday when a horse fell on him. He suffered a fractured pelvis. He is a patient at Providence Hospital here.

Green was manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Sedalia, Mo., for about 10 years.

Green was manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce for about ten years, and left here in September, 1947, going to Illinois and left there for Kansas City about six years ago. He and his wife, Ada, are well known in Sedalia.

St. Louisan Indicted

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Donald Wesley Edwards, 20, has been indicted by a Circuit Court grand jury for first degree murder in the shooting of taxi driver Malcom Segasture in an April 18 holdup that netted $10.

Circuit Atty. Edward L. Dowd announced after the indictment was returned yesterday that he will seek the death penalty for the killing of the 27-year-old father of two children.

Two Senators Think Veto No Obstacle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Young (R-ND) and Ellender (D-La.) said today they are confident a revised farm bill including a soil bank program can become law even if President Eisenhower should veto it.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), who often speaks for the administration, said the bill approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee "is completely unacceptable to me" and he would recommend a veto "unless it is cleaned up." Young and Ellender predicted Congress would override a veto of the present Senate bill.

Aiken objected particularly to a provision for mandatory price supports for next year's crops of oats, barley, rye, grain sorghums and corn grown outside the principal corn belt.

"More farmers would be hurt than helped by this provision," he said. "It might be wiser to have no new farm legislation than this provision."

Young, who voted with a majority of the Agriculture Committee in approving the feed grains provisions, said most opposition to it "comes from Northeast states and other regions which want cheap feed grains in surplus," adding: "The Midwest is interested in

University Has Another Dorm Raid Incident

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Louisiana State University, which had not decided on disciplinary action for participants of one party raid, today had another near-riot to consider.

An estimated 700 men students headed for the women's dormitories last night with plans for a party raid. Many were dissatisfied with the way Wednesday night's unsuccessful raid was broken up by police, who were forced to use tear gas. That raid also resulted in 42 arrests, 20 of them high school students. LSU took no immediate action on its students.

Police used tear gas again last night to disperse the students who shot blank cartridges, hurled clods of dirt, bricks, iron pipe and rotten eggs, broke windows and exploded firecrackers.

Three were arrested. No injuries were reported. The outnumbered campus police force was augmented by state troopers, city police and sheriff's officers. The fire department also was called out but it refused to turn water on the students. Fire Chief Robert Bogan said he feared the students would cut the hoses.

Young continued: "This bill could be passed over a presidential veto but I do not expect one."

Ellender, the committee chairman, said he agreed with Young's appraisal, and he added: "There would be no excuse for a veto this time."

Scottish Family Makes Appeal for Help To Find a Descendant

BALTIMORE (AP)—A clan claiming descent from the "first true King of Scotland, Fergus Mor MacEarca," is searching for some one to carry on its proud name.

In a letter to the Morning Sun today, Daniel A. Cooper of Llanshen, Cardiff, Wales, appealed to Baltimore people for help.

"There is a statement in the 'records of the clan and name of Fergusson,' that my great-grandfather, John Fergusson, had two brothers, Donald and William, who went to Baltimore from Perthshire, Scotland, and presumably became naturalized Americans," Cooper wrote.

"Due to wars, accidents and other causes," he continued, "no male Fergusson that I know of is left in our branch of the clan to carry on the name in this country, and I hope to find that some may have survived in the U.S.A."

The "first true King," he said, began his reign in 498 A.D.

Ladies, Here's How You Can Keep a Man in the Kitchen

HERE'S HOW you can keep him on "KP." He'll enjoy your pink non-alkaline lotion for his hands after chores.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Memo to the bride: Get the groom into the kitchen as soon as possible. Why? Because it'll solve a lot of problems later.

If your man gets in the habit of giving you a hand with the dishes, setting the table or tossing the salad, you won't pout when you're stuck with a load of company dishes — he'll be at your elbow with a towel.

Team work counts in marriage, and many a divorce has been averted by a share-the-work plan. After all if the man of the house is finished with his work at sundown, why should the woman toil until the wee hours? Her day starts when his does.

Then, too, the Yale University

School of Medicine conducted some scientific tests showing that the average male is a little less susceptible than the average female to "dishpan hands." And what husband armed with this knowledge would risk having his little woman's hands become rough and red when his own may swish through detergent easily?

Home management specialists of the Ohio Extension Service reported recently that about two-thirds of 50 employed homemakers claimed regular help with housework from their husbands. But less than one-third of 50 full-time housewives had such help, maybe because they started asking for it too late.

If you're going in for the husband-helper idea here are some pointers to help maintain his interest:

1. Make a game of it. Don't command him to help you. Put the apron around his neck and give him a big hug telling him what a big help he is each time.

2. Brag about him when friends are around. You don't need to detail his chores, but just a passing thought that you don't know what you'd do without his help will keep him in the kitchen mechanic mood.

3. If he has had an especially hard day, insist that he relax and you'll do his chores. He'll do the same for you another time.

4. Detergents really take their toll of hands, some more so than others. Get him in the habit of rubbing lotion on his hands after he finishes washing dishes, if that's what he elects to do. One of the new nonalkaline type lotions is pink and faintly fragrant, but he'll like it if you help him rub it on his hands.

5. If he does do the washing show him that it isn't necessary to have boiling hot water. He should rinse each dish before drying it too. But if he doesn't, ease yourself into the washing job and give him the wiping to do, rather than try to change his dishwashing method.

6. Whenever he volunteers to do something, be gentle if you must give constructive criticism, otherwise you might find he'll storm out of the kitchen never to be seen within its confines again.

It's a good idea to understand the disadvantages of having a man helper at your beck and call for kitchen duty. Expect to find mashed potatoes on the ceiling, gravy on the floor, more pots than you ever knew you owned to be cleaned after he whips up a meal. You'll also have the most expensive meals human mind can contrive.

Prepared macaroni dinner is good served with frankfurters and is quick, too!

Mrs. R. Swope Is Guest Speaker For Organization

Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the Crippled Children's Center, was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Women of the Moose on Tuesday night. Mrs. Evelyn McNally, chairman of the "Hospital Chapter Night" program, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Swope explained the work being done at the center, the accomplishments, past, present and those planned in the future, and stressed the need for help. She indicated many ways open to clubs and groups who were unable to give their personal time to the project, by purchasing books, paper, crayons and other supplies, all costing money, and very necessary to the development of these children and an important contribution to the success of the Center.

Her talk was warmly received and the Women of the Moose are making plans to find ways and means to provide financial help to further this work. A benefit card party will be held on Thursday night, May 10, as a part of the hospital chairman's project, and it is hoped a large crowd will attend.

An outing at the Catholic Community Center is planned for Friday, May 25.

Mrs. Garnet Starkey, senior regent, presided over the meeting and one new member, Mrs. Gladys Richardson, was initiated.

During the social hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Evelyn McNally and her committee, at a gaily decorated table, featuring a "May Basket" filled with spring flowers as a centerpiece and tiny baskets filled with mints at each place to complete the May basket theme.

Clarksburg PTA Meets, Holds Basket Dinner

The Clarksburg PTA met Tuesday night at 8 o'clock for its May meeting and basket dinner. Mrs. Gene Sullins called the meeting to order and Mrs. C. D. Yarnell gave the prayer.

Mrs. Fredrick Martin read the minutes and Mrs. Leonard Martin gave the treasurer's report of $176.26. The group voted to give $5.20 to the cancer fund.

A letter from county superintendent, Alfred Lloyd, thanking the PTA for serving at the tournament, was read.

After the group passed a resolution that the executive committee send the bylaws in for state approval, a basket dinner was served.

If you're using molasses in a recipe, pour it into the measuring cup or spoon. If you dip into the container with the spoon or cup you want to measure by, some of the molasses will stick to the underside and you won't end up with the exact amount called for.

One Buck Costs $500

WAKEFIELD, Va. (AP) — One buck meant $500 to V. L. Worrell, owner of a local appliance store. Worrell had closed up his shop earlier this week when the buck—a full-grown deer—made an after-hours visit by crashing through the plate glass front door. Moments later, having had an unexciting look-see at the merchandise and banging up a sewing machine and a window fan, the buck made his exit—through the store's plate glass window. Said Worrell, adding up his losses and reaching the $500 total: "I had no idea a buck would go that far this day and age."

The boys trio, composed of Kit Taylor, Mark Shelby and Ronnie Mulberry, accompanied by Miss Nave, sang "Shortnin' Bread" and "Heaven," a Negro spiritual.

The Rhythm Band from Broadway School, composed of students from the first, second and third grades, played three numbers, accompanied by Miss Florence Hirt. Joe Ruddick and E. B. Smith, District Governor, discussed the entertainment which will be provided by the Sedalia Club at the End Christian Home Week At First Baptist

Sunday is Mother's Day at the First Baptist Church and marks the conclusion of the observance of Christian Home Week. The pastor's subject for Sunday will be: morning, "The Essentials for a Happy Home," and evening, "What Are You Reading?" The Cradle Roll and Nursery Departments of the Sunday School along with the workers and parents will be recognized.

The evening worship will emphasize the place of a church library. During the past week Mrs. Margaret Boyer from the Baptist Book Store in Kansas City has been working with members of the church in setting up a church library for the use of the members of the church. The library will be dedicated on Sunday evening and our members and friends will be given the opportunity to view what has been done.

Other meetings of importance during the week will be: 1. The Men's Brotherhood on Tuesday at 6:30 in the dining hall of the church and they will first have a fellowship dinner and this will be followed by an interesting program. 2. The officers and teachers meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:15 followed by the mid-week workshop at 8 o'clock. 3. This week is Focus Week for the Girls of Junior and Intermediate ages who belong to the Girls Auxiliary under the sponsorship of the Missionary Society. The girls will have a part on the program at the mid-week service Wednesday and there will be a coronation service at the church on Thursday of this week at 8:00 o'clock. This coronation is an annual occasion for the Young People of the Baptist Churches of Pettis County and is always well attended by the members of the various churches.

The First Baptist Church has taken another step in the department of music. An Intermediate Choir is being organized under the direction of Mrs. A. R. Beach and will meet for practice each Wednesday evening at 6:45. This will give the church three choirs and they will greatly add to the program of music.

The church will entertain the high school graduates of the Smith-Cotton High School who are members of our church or Sunday School at the banquet Friday evening at 6:30 at the Flat Creek Inn.

Tigers District Baseball Titlists

Shade Jeff City, 8-5, Thursday To Advance To Regional Playoff

The Smith-Cotton Tigers won the District title over Jefferson City, Thursday afternoon by a score of 8-5 in a game filled with not only baseball but a good old fashioned rube. The Tigers now advance to Regional at Columbia next week to meet the winner of the St. Louis District.

The Tigers meet the University of St. Louis, high school on the Columbia diamond, the date to be set.

Getting off to a one run lead in the top of the first, Jefferson City was putting the pressure on the Tigers. It all happened when the Jays had one on first and second. An infield fly was hit, and dropped, the runner made a break for third and was caught the batter failed to be called out by the umpire.

Coach Russell Gilmore offered a protest, and so notified the umpire he was playing under protest. Then in the Tiger half of the game, Swafford bunted and started down the baseline, ran into Gillock, and upset him, but was out.

This brought on the rube and everybody was out on the field, but nobody got hurt.

The game proceeded and Coach Gibbs came out and complained to the umpire about the Sedalia boys standing on the curb edge of the dugout and they were ordered to sit down. Coach Gilmore protested the Jefferson City coach was coaching out of uniform, and everything that could confuse, umpires, and fans and the players was in the air.

But the Tigers apparently enjoyed it because they shook off the jinx, scored two in the third, and rallied with six in the sixth to get their eight scores. Clyde Kubli didn't get upset over the incidents and pitched along with ease, and his players tightened up and backed him well.

The line score:
Jefferson City .002 020 0-5 5 2
Smith-Cotton .002 006 x-8 6 4
Batteries: Higgins, Albright and R. Scott for Jefferson City; Clyde Kubli and Charles Newman for the Tigers.

Sam Snead Holds Lead in Second Tournay Round

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., (AP)—As long as Sam Snead isn't called upon to make long putts he undoubtedly is going to be the golfer to beat in the White Sulphur Springs Open which he entered as the second round leader today with a five under par 65. Snead showed yesterday he still is, although 44 and an infrequent competitor, a deadly shooter from off the tee and far away. His approach to the cup were so close that only once did the notorious blow-up on the greens have to make a long putt for a birdie.

By contrast, the 33-year-old Mike Fitchick of Yonkers, N.Y., had to hold a hot putter to get the same number of birdies and one bogey to come in one stroke behind Snead.

Fitchick had to sink three putts of around 10 feet. Another of 13 and his closest birdie was five feet away. He rolled his last one 12 feet right up to the lip of the cup on the last hole to miss tying Snead.

Fitchick had a one-stroke edge on Jack Isaacs, veteran pro from Langley Field, Va. Another two strokes back were Gil Cavanaugh of Cedarhurst, N.Y., Vic Ghezzi of New York, Ed Oliver of Boston, Skeel Rigel of Ithaca, Pa., Henry Cotton of England, and James Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C.

Another six of the 42 starting pros were bunched at par 70. They are competing for $10,000 in prizes in the 72-hole tourney.

Performers' Walkout Closes Beatty Circus

OXNARD, Calif. (AP)—A performers' walkout ordered by the American Guild of Variety Artists has closed the Clyde Beatty Circus. Karl Knudson, advance man for the circus, said the show equipment has left Los Angeles by train for Deming, N.M., the circus' winter headquarters. He added: "All future plans of the circus are temporarily canceled."

An AGVA representative said the walkout was ordered because of $15,000 in back pay owed performers.

TALOGA, Okla. (AP)—Fat Furr isn't sure the cure is better than the trouble when it comes to catching chicken house prowlers. Furr set a trap and in the morning he found a skunk. He got his gun but as he pulled the trigger the skunk fired too.

Mark Twain Wins Classes B And C—Broadway Takes Grade School Class A Title In Track Meet

The Grade School annual spring track meet furnished the thrills for the under grade students Thursday when Broadway took the Class A division and Mark Twain, who finished second in the A came along and made a sweep of the Class B and C divisions.

In Class A Broadway sneaked out on the Mark Twain aggregation by 2½ points. Going into the broad jump class Mark Twain had the lead by a ½ point, 36½ to 36. In that event Broadway scored a first and a tie for fourth and with Mark Twain while Mark Twain scored second in the event, to give Broadway a total of 45½ and Mark Twain 43.

Wrestler, Hypnotist Appears Here

Dr. Lee Grable, of Los Angeles, one of the professional wrestling's most unusual personalities, is coming back to Sedalia next Tuesday. Unusual because he is a terrific heavyweight wrestler and at the same time a hypnotist as well. He is also a contender for the heavyweight title.

Dr. Grable will appear in his unique dual role of wrestler and hypnotist on the three-match card set for next Tuesday night, May 15, at the Sedalia Armory. Four of the nation's top midget wrestlers will share the featured spotlight when they compete in the first midget tag team match of the season here.

First order of business for the Californian will be his featured heavyweight matching with Martino Angelo, the Toledo, Ohio rough-houser who has become a leading title threat within the past eight months.

Following the completion of the regularly scheduled matches, Dr. Grable will return to the ring to fulfill his promise to present his highly entertaining demonstration of mass hypnosis. The audience and anyone can volunteer to become a hypnotic subject.

In presenting his feats of mass hypnosis, Dr. Grable does not try to embarrass his subjects. He makes the demonstration both educational and entertaining. He is the only professional hypnotist who has ever attempted to present his demonstration in the ring of a sports arena. His feats border on the phenomenal side and will both amaze and amuse the audience.

Dr. Grable made his mat debut here last Tuesday and battled villainous Bob Orton.

Against Angelo, the doctor will again be encountering a rough foe but he has informed the matmatch that he will come fully prepared to give Angelo an equally rough go.

The return of the mighty mites of matdom is also certain to attract considerable fan interest. Heading the list of the four pint-sized matmen is Little Beaver, the colorful 46-inch Mohawk Indian from Canada. Little Beaver will pair with Cowboy Bradley, a wee Texan, and they will oppose Irish Jackie and Tom Thumb, two midget mat importations from the British Isles.

The midgets wrestle under the same tag team rules as those governing regular heavyweight team battles. What the little men lack in size and weight they amply make up for in speedy ring antics. Little Beaver and Irish Jackie will collide in an individual match to open the varied mat program next Tuesday at 8:15 p. m.

Class B

Bahama Middleweight Is Favorite to Win In 10-Round Bout

SYRACUSE, N. Y., (AP)—Yama Bahama, a middleweight with a style as bizarre as his ring name, is the 3-1 favorite to beat Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood in a 10-round fight here tonight.

Bahama was expected to weigh in at about 152 and Smallwood at 158 for the bout in the War Memorial Auditorium. It will be broadcast and telecast nationally (NBC, 8 p. m., CST.)

Yama hails from the Isle of Bimini in the Bahamas.
Bahama has won 40 bouts, lost four and drawn twice. Smallwood, a Brooklyn boy, is 18-4-2. Both are 23.

Finsterwald Holds Lead In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Don Finsterwald, considered one of pro goldfom's up-and-coming stars, held a slim two-stroke lead today as a field of par-busting players moved into the second round of the $25,000 St. Louis Open.

The 26-year-old Bedford Heights, Ohio, pro smashed through Sunset Country Club's hilly, wind-swept course yesterday in 32-33-65, seven strokes under par.

This sub-par round over the relatively short 6,277-yard course didn't disturb Jack Burke Jr., Masters champion who missed practice sessions here because of a cold and hadn't toured the layout since the Western Open a decade ago.

Burke, from Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., came through with a 32-35-67.
Just one stroke back of Burke stood George Bayer, Cincinnati, the long ball - hitting ex-football player from the University of Washington; Art Doering, Cedarhurst, N.Y.; and Doug Higgins, Midland, Tex.

Seven pros were bunched at 69. They included Jack Fleck, Davenport, Iowa, last year's National Open champion; Fred Wampler, Indianapolis; Bill Casper Jr., Chula Vista, Calif.; Bo Winger, Oklahoma City; Stan Leonard, Le Chute, Canada; George Bigham, Kansas City; and Bud Holscher, Apple Valley, Calif.

Some of the better known pros who weren't even in the low 20 scorers on opening day because of the rash of sub-par rounds, included: pion; Frank Stranahan; Ted Kroll and Bob Toski all with 71s; Tommy Bolt and Ed Furgol, 1954 National Open champion with 72s.

The top amateur was Jim Tom Blair III of Jefferson City, Mo., the current Missouri state amateur champion and son of the state's lieutenant governor. He carded a 71.

MIAA Track and Field Meet Opens at College

WARRENSBURG, (AP)—The MIAA's outdoor track and field meet tomorrow is expected to produce a close finish among the six teams. As an indication, at the indoor meet in Columbia only six points separated the Cape Girardeau Indians, Springfield Bears and Warrensburg Mules from first to third place.

Warrensburg is the defending outdoor champion.
The conference golf and tennis tournaments started today. Rolla was the 1955 golf champion and Warrensburg got the tennis title.

Brennan Puts Four Sophs In Lineup

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Coach Terry Brennan, looking hard for youngsters capable of first-line duty, put four sophomores in Notre Dame's varsity lineup for tomorrow's annual spring football game with the old-timers.

The old-timers are graduated and about-to-be-graduated stars of past Irish seasons. Every year they suit up to give next season's Notre Dame team a test of big-time competition in a game ending spring training.

In the old-timers lineup were eight players from the 1955 season:

Wayne Edmonds and ex-captain Ray Lemek, tackles; Pat Biscaglia and John McMullan, guards; Don Schaefer and Dick Fitzgerald, backs; Gene Kapish, End; Jim Mense, center. All except Edmonds and McMullan played in either the East-West or North-South postseason games last winter.

Other old-timers include Ernie Zaleski, who last played in 1949; Paul Matz and Dan Shannon, ends, and Tom Carey, quarterback, 1954; Menil Mavrides, guard, 1953; Chet Ostrowski, end, 1951; Gus Cifelli, tackle, 1949; and Frank Epstein, guard, 1950. Varsity reserves round out the old-timers squad.

Landy Commands Top Spot in California Relay Competition

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—There are 61 events and 1,450 competitors for tomorrow's West Coast Relays but the affable Australian school master John Landy and the mile run command the No. 1 spot.

The world record holder from Melbourne whose 3 minutes 58 seconds at Turku, Finland, is the fastest mile ever run will face four others including Ron Delany, the Irish lad from Villanova University, in a race starting at 8:10 p. m. CST.

Hedging the field events are Fortune Gordien, world discus record holder at 194 feet 6, and the Rev. Franklin (Bud) Held, who holds the javelin mark at 268 feet 2½. Sprinter Mike Agostini, the speedster from Jamaica who attends Fresno State College, heads 28 entries in the 100-yard dash. Last week he tied the world record of 9.3. He has a 20.1 in the 220 up for approval as a new record.

Kate Smith's Mgr. Takes Swing at TV

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Collins, who for 25 years has been Kate Smith's manager, producer and announcer in radio and later in TV, is a free-swinging, articulate critic of the new medium.

It might also be explained that if neither Ted nor Kate ever work again both will still be able to afford three hot meals a day. Money in the bank can give a man a fine feeling of abandon, and Ted hauled off freely in several wide arcs.

Free plugs.
"The worst," he said, "is the guy who takes his TV show out of town. He leaves with 13 cents and returns with 18 but he has had a lovely free time. How do you know? It's easy."

"On the air, he thinks the airline which flew him, the hotel for his room, the restaurant for the hot sandwiches at rehearsals, the clothes he supplied his slacks, the barber who shaved him, the parking lot which saved him $1.50."

"The sponsor is to blame; he could stop it. He's saving peanuts for these services and gives away thousands of dollars in plugs in return. It's lousy to listen to."

Soap operas on TV.
"They've been very successful on radio, but they don't last long in TV. Why? Because there's too much turnover in the cast. You have to pay actors enough so that they'll work for you exclusively and remain with you for a long time. The viewer identifies with them. The cast becomes — or should become — as familiar as the viewer's own family.

"What happens? The heroine has boy friend. You get so you recognize him. Then the actor has a headache and can't perform. That day the sequence shows the heroine on her honeymoon. It's a different guy, a different actor. Everybody in the audience knows this but the heroine. They should have written the male lead out of the script. Or they should have had an alternate script."

"The soap opera actor has to work only for the one show. He can't be a priest in the afternoon

Says Yugoslavia Will Be Friends To Both Sides

PARIS (AP)—President Tito says Yugoslavia's independent course has provided a useful link in encouraging East-West understanding and his government will continue to serve in that role.

Speaking at a Foreign Ministry dinner, the Yugoslav leader again emphasized that his Communist country will be friends with both the Communist bloc and the Western nations. He said Yugoslavia stands for constructive collaboration with all nations.

The Yugoslav chief of state is nearing the end of a six-day state visit to France.

"Should we gain new friends in the East," Tito declared, "this will by no means signify that we want to disown the friends that we have in the West."

"We desire to persevere in our independent policy," he continued, "and we are profoundly convinced that such a policy has been useful and remains so, for the West as well as for the East, in encouraging the cause of their rapprochement."

Referring to the nationalist rebellion against French rule in Algeria, the Yugoslav chief said: "Knowing the clairvoyance and perspicacity of the French men of state, we are convinced that the questions in suspense will be settled in a manner satisfactory for France and for all interested parties."

Upper-Level Apartments Hit By Hong Kong Water Loss

By BEN LEFKOW
For Hal Boyle
HONG KONG (AP)—The rents on hilly Hong Kong's upper-level apartments are high, but most people say they're worth it. The views of the harbor and sea are breathtaking, especially at dusk. But not many are gaping out picture windows right now.

They're too busy peering or sitting in dry bathtubs waiting for the water to come on. For some, it hasn't trickled out of the tap since May 1 when strict rationing — water only three hours every other day—began.

It seems their downstairs neighbors spend the three hours in washing clothes, bathing, mopping floors and filling every available can with water for use on dry days.

That means water pressure never gets a chance to build up to the top apartments. The Water Authority, which takes the brunt of the complaints, can only urge downstairs folks to have some pity on their upstairs neighbors. So far, the pity angle hasn't worked. Complaints are increasing as the temperature rises. Hong Kong Island and its adjacent chunk of Mainland, Kowloon, always have suffered from water shortages, but things this year are the worst since 1929 when ships had to carry water in from Canton.

Rainfall the past six months has been about half normal and reservoirs are nearly empty. Most of the 20,000 Europeans and Americans take the shortage in stride, but it's hard on many of the hundreds of thousands of Chinese refugees who fled Communist China.

These, the poor of Hong Kong, live in orange crate huts and are forced to carry their supply—sometimes miles — from public taps.

Long lines form hours before the taps are turned on. Occasional fights flare when someone attempts to cut in or stays too long at the pump.

Some enterprising Chinese, who need a meal more than a bath, sell what water they can get.

Others have gone into the container-making business. The price of a 10-gallon can was about $3 — $1.30 — but now cost about $20. A fish bowl dealer said business suddenly perked up. People are buying the bowls to store water.

A wealthy British trader who lives in a plush—and high-level—apartment said he plans to join a golf club even though he has never played the game.

"They've got fine showers there," he said. "And their own water tank."

So far, rationing hasn't cut into the business life of this British

Will Insist On Strength Tests of Nike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Chavez (D-NM) said today he will insist on decisive tests to show whether Nike guided missiles, a mainstay in U.S. anti-aircraft defenses, are as potent as the Army contends.

Chavez heads a Senate Appropriations subcommittee conducting public hearings on the armed forces' multimillion-dollar budget for the coming year.

This biggest money bill of the year passed the House yesterday. A 377-0 vote sent to the Senate a $33,635,086,000 defense budget containing exactly what President Eisenhower recommended for procurement of new airplanes — $6,048,500,000.

Rep. Flood (D-Pa.) led a fight to add a billion dollars to the figure, but lost by a resounding voice vote.

Chairman McMahon (D-Tex.) of the subcommittee that handled the bill said it would give the Air Force 16 billion dollars for spending, counting balances from earlier appropriations.

Rep. Scrivner (R-Kan.) cautioned against putting all military hopes in the long-range B52 bomber — for which Flood intended the extra funds. Scrivner said the Air Force already is working on a bigger and better long-range bomber.

Sen. Chavez said he will call a closed hearing perhaps late next week to explore with top Air Force and Army officials whether the Talos guided missile, developed by the Navy, is a more potent weapon than the Nike, as the Air Force reportedly believes.

Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) demanded a showdown test yesterday after Secretary of the Army Brucker had described the Nike as powerful enough to knock down "any Russian bomber we have heard about."

Chavez said he has heard the Talos has a longer range, requires less manpower to fire it, and is cheaper. He said he will tell the Army and Air Force he wants a competitive test of the two missiles "within a reasonable time."

Big Postal Safety Drive Is Initiated

The first complete, overall safety program in the history of the Post Office Department, designed to provide greater on-the-job safety for more than half a million postal employees, is being placed in operation, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

Detailed instructions on the new comprehensive program (which began with a motor vehicle safety program in 1954) are being incorporated in the Postal Manual.

"In addition to our concern about motor vehicle accidents, which have been reduced substantially in city areas, we have been much concerned for the more than 400,000 postal employees who do not drive, but who are responsible for the complex operations of mail separation, distribution, transportation, maintenance and supply involved in delivering a letter to the patron's door," Mr. Summerfield said.

"Consequently, we have made this major expansion in our safety program," he explained.

This expansion provides for the administration and implementation of the industrial accident prevention and fire prevention programs. In addition, a Postal Supervisor's Safety Handbook will be issued as a guide to assist supervisory employees in administering effective accident prevention techniques.

"Every potential hazard will be studied in an all out effort to reduce on-the-job injuries and fires in postal installations," Mr. Summerfield said. "Postal officials, supervisors and employees alike will be educated in safe work practices and conditions. No employee should begin a new job without proper safety orientation."

Adlai Claims GOP Money Helped Estes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adlai Stevenson says he has learned Republican money was used to help defeat him in the Minnesota Democratic presidential primary, and may "turn up in Florida and California."

But Sen. Estes Kefauver, who upset Stevenson in Minnesota last March, said he knows "nothing about Republican contributions to my campaign," adding:

"It looks as if Mr. Stevenson is preparing an alibi."

Both Stevenson and Kefauver are combing the Los Angeles area for votes in advance of the vital California primary June 5 — their last direct test before the Democratic nominating convention in August.

Before their California contest, the two rival presidential aspirants also will clash in the Oregon primary May 18 and in the Florida primary May 29.

It was during a speech to a meeting of labor leaders yesterday that Stevenson said he had been informed that what he described as "heavy financial contributors" to the GOP had raised in one night "all the Republican money needed to defeat me in Minnesota."

Stevenson, saying he was certain Kefauver "knew nothing of this," did not name any of the alleged contributors.

"If this report is true," Stevenson said, "it appears that the Republican leaders who helped elect President Eisenhower in 1952 are now trying to dictate the choice

Kefauver-Stevenson Debate to Be On ABC Radio and Television

NEW YORK (AP)—The May 21 Miami debate between Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver will be carried live on ABC radio and television, the network says.

The time will be 10 to 11 p. m. EDT.

Kefauver Says Adlai Is Preparing Alibi

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's accusation that big-money Republicans are contributing to defeat him in the Democratic primaries has drawn the tart retort from his principal rival, Sen. Estes Kefauver:

"It looks like Mr. Stevenson is preparing an alibi."

The Republican party did not immediately reply to Stevenson's assertion here yesterday.

Kefauver, also campaigning in southern California, said he knew nothing about any Republican contributions to his campaign in Minnesota or elsewhere.

H-Bomb Test Is Set

ABOARD USS MT. MCKINLEY, Eniwetok (AP)—The bumpy Cherokee shot H-bomb test is set now for Sunday—tomorrow—in the United States—if the weather will cooperate.

The big air-drop shot, which will be observed by newsmen and civil defense leaders, originally was scheduled last Monday, U. S.

of the Democratic candidate this year.

Man Convicted Of Kidnap-Rape Of Beauty Queen

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A jury last night convicted Jack James Walker, 25, of twice kidnaping and raping Miss California of last year's Miss Universe Pageant—now Mrs. Donna Schurr Brett, 19.

The seven men and five women had deliberated eight hours before returning their verdict.

Walker, a husky auto upholstery worker, sat pale-faced and some of the women jurors wiped their eyes as the court clerk read the verdict. His wife Judy, who is expecting their second child, burst into tears.

Walker's attorney, Public Defender Nick Meyer, said he would move for a new trial.

A deputy sheriff handcuffed Walker, who has been free on $5,000 bail throughout the trial, and took him to jail. Superior Judge John Shea raised bail to $10,000 after the verdict.

The penalty for either kidnaping or rape is 1 to 50 years in prison on each count. Walker was convicted also of burglarizing the beauty queen's home last Jan. 10—the second time, she testified he abducted and molested her.

After the second attack, witnesses said, Walker was chased in a car by Lloyd Brett, 24, until a highway patrolman stopped both autos. Two days later Brett married Miss Schurr.

Fright Frees Cat From Glass Prison

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (AP)—A cat, apparently starved thin because a glass jar stuck around its head, was freed from its transparent prison by fright Deputy Sheriff C. L. Edmondson reports.

Edmondson saw the cat dart out on the highway as he was driving along. In fright, it dashed into a tree that shattered the glass and freed the animal, Edmondson said.

Clarksburg Students Have Commencement

The following eighth grade pupils of the Clarksburg school will receive their diplomas Friday, May 18: Joe Caldwell, Kenneth Howard, Charles Jenkins, Alice Jones, Marie Keller, Gary Martin, Larry Martin, Sharon Miller, William Rex, Ruth Ann Stinson and Harold Theiss. The program, which will be on the last day of school, will begin at eight with the Rev. Elmo Purvis, California, as guest speaker.

Safety Rule Fails

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Michigan police Lieut. Carl S. Pike goes around the country conducting a show in the interests of highway safety and car protection.

Pike followed one of his own rules by parking his station wagon under a street light on a main street. Returning later, he discovered thieves had broken into the vehicle and stole $1,000 worth of property.

Dairy Day Chairmen Hold Meet

Committee Reports Given; More Cakes Needed For Social

A meeting of chairmen of various committees on the Dairy Festival to be held June 2 was held at the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday evening. D. S. Lamm, general chairman, was in charge.

Lamm started out by asking for reports of the various committees of the big promotional program. First to report was Roy Duncan, chief booster, out at the Missouri Pacific Shops. The Missouri Pacific will have their Baby Eagle here for the Dairy Festival Parade. Duncan asked about decorations and was told that the theme was the consumption of dairy products.

The chairman of the parade committee, Oscar DeWolf, reported four commercial floats, at least two bands and the expectation of several youth floats. Each amateur float entered will receive $5 and the winning one $75. Normally the commercial floats are not eligible for prize money. The parade will start at 1 o'clock on West Main Street.

Mrs. Shirley Wagner of the ice cream social committee had had an afternoon meeting where she set up 11 different committees. She is already getting commitments for cakes and expects to need 300. Ice cream for the social will be purchased from the local ice cream manufacturers. Mrs. Wagner mentioned that they were preparing to serve 5,000 people.

The ice cream social is the big money making feature of the festival and generally pays most of the expenses. Ticket sales have been brisk thru the city schools and Harry Brougher reported the disposal of 3,100 tickets thru the Sedalia schools for a total of $640.20. C. F. Scotten reported less interest in the rural districts and about $40 turned in to date.

The 4-H clubs and Boy Scouts are just starting an intensive ticket sales program. Dairy farmers of the county have been asked to contribute two cents per hundredweight on milk sold during the month of April and dairy plants in the area are providing additional funds.

Keith Yount is chairman of the finance committee. Besides calling on Brougher and Scotten for the above reports he reviewed the expenses of the 1954 festival. They totaled about $925. Expenses on this one, he said, were expected to be about $200 more. Miss Opal O'Brian asked for $25 to be used as prizes in the dairy foods demonstrations.

"This is a new project," Miss O'Brian said, "where youngsters give 15-minute demonstrations on the preparation of a certain dairy food."

It will be in the Fox Theatre Saturday morning. They have 11 entries divided into three age groups for a full morning program. One of the extension foods specialists from the University will judge the demonstrations.

Damon Hieronymus and Cline Cain reported on the square dance which will be held at Convention Hall from 8:30 to 11:30 that night. They have the same orchestra as last year. Part of the dances will be called by callers in each set and the rest by one central caller. Damon said, "We have a good master of ceremonies and expect a fine program."

The window exhibits were reported by Harry Naugel. They have 17 entries to date. The closing is at 8 p. m. (Please turn to page 6 column 1)

Aiken, who often speaks for the administration on farm policy, said he would recommend that President Eisenhower refuse to sign the bill unless a section boosting livestock feed grain prices is eliminated.

Eisenhower vetoed a farm bill passed by Congress last month. He objected, among other things, to provisions boosting livestock feed grain prices.

Objectionable Feature Retained
"We've retained the most objectionable feature of the vetoed bill," Aiken told reporters after the Democratic-controlled Agriculture Committee approved the new measure. The House has already passed it in somewhat different form, and Senate action is expected next week.

Aiken declared the bill "would increase the cost-price squeeze already hurting our farmers."

Sen. Ellender (D-La.), chairman of the Agriculture Committee, has told reporters he thought the revised legislation could be accepted by the President. He added today that he expected the Senate to give quick approval to the committee's version.

Contains Soil Bank
The bill gives Eisenhower the soil bank plan he asked for to assure farmers up to $1,200,000 a year in benefit payments for withdrawing land from the production of crops already in surplus.

But the Senate Committee, like the House, refused to give the President authority to pay 500 million dollars this year on land to be withdrawn next year. Without advance payments, the administration contends, few farmers could benefit from the soil bank this year because the season is so far advanced.

GOP Opposition On Feed Grains
As the time for a Senate test approached, most GOP opposition centered on the provision to support the feed grains—rye, oats, barley and grain sorghums—at a level 5 per cent below the support level set for the big commercial corn crop. Farmers would have to participate in the soil bank to get their grain supported.

In the past there have been no mandatory price supports for feed grains, although the secretary of agriculture could support them at levels up to 90 per cent of parity if he wished. Parity is the price level at which the farmer is considered to get a fair return in relation to his production costs.

Aiken said the feed grains provision would "add 100 million acres of cropland that must be measured and checked for compliance" by the government.

"This would greatly increase the regimentation of farmers and require an additional outlay of about 36 million dollars just for administrative costs," he asserted.

Probe Alleged Sale Of Drugs To St. Louis Workhouse Prisoners

ST. LOUIS, May 10.—(P)—A grand jury is reportedly investigating the alleged sale of narcotics among prisoners in the city workhouse.

The investigation reportedly stems from two months of intensive work in the institution by agents of the federal narcotics division and narcotics specialists in the police department.

The narcotics traffic is said to involve at least one workhouse guard.

Attention of city officials to conditions at the workhouse is said to have resulted from three prisoner riots within a 10-month period. Workhouse Warden Harold E. Baynes was reportedly invited to appear before the jury today, but his physician stated he entered Barnes Hospital late yesterday suffering from a nervous breakdown.

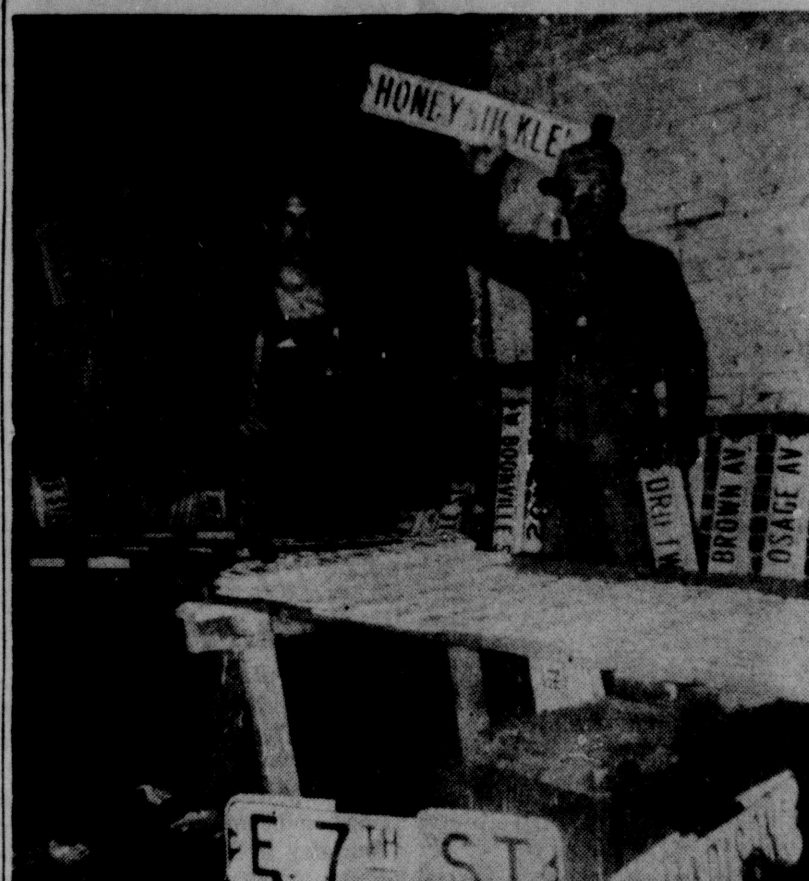

Digging Post Holes Finds Hand Grenade

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (P)—S. M. Taylor was digging post-holes yesterday when his digging tool clanked against a hard metal object.

Taylor picked up the object, didn't recognize it and got a hammer to break it open. An unidentified passer-by saw what he was doing, excitedly told him to stop and called police.

When police arrived, they took the object and dropped it in the Arkansas River.

It was a hand grenade with the pin still in it.

Sees Red Military Cuts Possible—Dulles Says Soviet Changes Could Provide Decent Dealing

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(P)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there are germs of change at work in the Soviet Union that could—over the years—make it a "decent state to do business with."

He said also that announced cuts in the Soviet armed forces may be real and may continue. The Russians announced last December they had reduced their armed forces by 640,000 men.

Advices Against Over Optimism
But Dulles carefully advised members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee against over optimism. He emphasized he was talking in terms of 10 years or perhaps a generation when he said, "Our long-range purpose is to accelerate the day when the Soviet Union will be a decent state to do business with."

He said the armed forces cuts should not be taken as a peace move or an abandonment of Russia's ambition to dominate the world, but only a shift to more effective use of manpower.

Specifically, Dulles urged approval of President Eisenhower's $4,900,000,000 foreign aid request as part of a general effort to keep the free world's defenses up and counteract Russia's own new economic aid program. To let the Soviet leadership win more successes abroad, Dulles said, would reduce the demands at home for more freedom, and slow down the activity of what he termed "germs of highly favorable developments."

Evidence Of Changes
Dulles offered these points as evidence that changes may be eating at the stone of the Soviet social structure:

1. "Some signs of a freer public opinion," notably the Soviet newspaper debate over the merits of the late Joseph Stalin and his policies.
2. The training and opening up of minds as Russian leaders give the people the education needed to carry out industrialization. "I think it inevitable that the increase in education in Russia has brought about a demand for greater freedom than was accorded under the Iron discipline of Stalin," he said.
3. A demand for personal security; "some revulsion" against the idea that secret police could "knock on a man's door in the middle of the night, take him to a cellar and shoot him."
4. Indications that not only has the dictatorship of a group replaced the dictatorship of one individual, but that even this group has "a growing disposition to consult with the layer below."
5. Increased hankering for consumer goods which can not be repressed entirely, even though Georgi Malenkov lost the premiership for giving in too much for it. Dulles said there is some reason to believe the Soviet people are not being told all about the new Soviet foreign aid program, lest they demand more attention to their needs first.
6. A growing demand in the satellite countries for more independence, and expression of "differences of opinion which formerly were suppressed."

The refunds to various customers will in most cases range from five per cent to ten per cent of the amounts collected by Missouri Public Service Co. since Sept. 23, 1954, plus 6 per cent interest on the refund.

The company's plan for refunding money refunded to it by City Service Gas Co., and the new lower rates to be filed by Missouri Public Service Company must both be approved by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

The refunds, which will have to be calculated for each individual consumer, will take some time and it will probably be a few months before checks are mailed out according to Rich.

Cyprus Returns To Calm

Two Cypriots Are Executed For Shootings

NICOSIA, Cyprus, May 10.—(P)—Surprising calm settled on the capital of this harassed British colony today after the execution of two Greek Cypriots convicted of political shootings.

The men, Michael Karaolis and Andreas Demetriou, were hanged secretly at dawn in Nicosia's heavily guarded central prison, despite appeals for reprieves addressed to London from both Cyprus and Greece.

News of the executions was not immediately announced publicly here. But it quickly spread by word of mouth to the tense, expectant city.

Reaction Is Quiet
Reaction was unexpectedly quiet. Greek stores, cafes and other businesses closed one by one and the life of the community, except among the minority of Turkish origin, came to a halt. Only a brief series of stone and tear gas engagements between security forces and Greek Cypriot youths marred the calm.

That occurred outside the city's main cathedral when teenagers hurled fist-sized rocks at passing police and British soldiers and drew tear gas fire in return. Several youths were jailed but there apparently were no injuries.

Greek flags flew at half mast from churches, schools and homes and church bells occasionally tolled in mourning for the dead pair despite regulation forbidding their use except as a summons to worship.

Calls over the island's intercity telephone lines were not accepted, so little news came to Nicosia of reaction in the rest of Cyprus.

Rebels Throw Grenades
The government announced, however, that grenades were flung by rebels at security forces in three remote communities. One security force member was injured seriously and another lightly in one of the incidents.

Karaolis was convicted last fall of murdering a policeman. Demetriou was convicted of attempted murder in the shooting of a British civilian. Both were considered patriots by the Greek Cypriot population which seeks removal of Britain from this crown colony, and its union with Greece.

Senate OK's Federal Flood Insurance Bill

Adopts Amendment For State Sharing Of Cost In '59

WASHINGTON, May 10.—(P)—The Senate tonight passed 61-7 a bill providing for federal flood insurance. It now goes to the House.

Before passage the Senate adopted 39-31 an amendment by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) calling for state sharing of the cost after June 30, 1959. The amendment was at the expressed wish of President Eisenhower.

Sen. Lehman (D-NY) protested that the amendment "virtually crippled the measure." Lehman headed a Senate Banking subcommittee which had drafted the insurance bill, minus the state participation feature proposed by the administration.

States Can Amend Constitutions
Knowland and Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.), advocating the amendment, said that since it did not require state participation for three years, states would have time to amend their constitutions so as to permit them to take part.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn.) sponsored the original administration bill calling for a state sharing of the cost but later agreed to elimination of the provisions because many states constitutions do not permit use of public funds for private benefit. Bush joined in Lehman's arguments against the Knowland amendment.

Accepts Russell Amendment
Lehman as manager of the bill, accepted an amendment by Sen. Russell (D-Ga.). This knocked out a provision which would have exempted proceeds from flood insurance from prior claims against the insured, including federal liens. Russell labeled this a dangerous precedent.

The Senate rejected by voice vote an amendment offered by Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.) which would have expanded the bill to cover damage or loss from tornadoes, winds or cyclones.

Adlai Charges Influence By GOP Finances

Says Financiers Raised Money For Minnesota Battle

By The Associated Press
Adlai Stevenson says "heavy financial contributors to the Republican party are attempting to influence the Democratic primaries" against him this year.

Stevenson, seeking to become the Democratic presidential nominee again, told a group of labor union leaders in Los Angeles Thursday that he has been informed that some of the most influential men in America raised in one night "all the Republican money needed to defeat me in Minnesota."

'Try To Dictate Demo Choice'
"If this report is true," Stevenson added, "it appears that the Republican leaders who helped elect President Eisenhower in 1952 are now trying to dictate the choice of the Democratic candidate this year. If that is so, it is not unlikely that their money has or will turn up in Florida and California."

Stevenson tangles with Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in the Florida primary May 29 and in California June 5.

Kefauver, also campaigning in California, was not available for comment but one of his campaign spokesmen said the Senator "knows nothing of any such support." This spokesman, former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, said Stevenson's statement "sounds to me like a man in the first stages of panic."

Stevenson, in telling about the reports said he felt sure Kefauver "knew nothing of this." He did not say how the money was used or who contributed it.

Stevenson spoke before the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

The sweeping full skirt was of floating nylon tulle, cross pleated in two wide panels trimmed with delicate lace. A finger-tip length imported silk illusion veil with hand rolled edge fell from a sculptured cap, fashioned of pleated tulle and soft ruffles, touched with sequins and pearls. Sedalia Couple Can Braid Rugs That Amaze Interior Decorators

And now a braided rug that compares with an Oriental rug — so says an authority on rugs. Strangely enough these rugs are made in Sedalia and quite by accident — not that Mr. and Mrs. Al Miles, 501 South Washington didn't intend to make braided rugs when they started out, they just didn't expect to make something that was entirely different. Truly, they didn't know they had until people began telling them — they had only made what they liked an' wanted for their own home.

It all began about five years ago when Al and Estine started making plans for a new home. They had a great deal of furniture, antiques, that had come to them through his family and some through hers, a 1 so the home was being planned around the furniture. The one thing they felt they needed in the home to make it complete was braided rugs, and so they began looking. They looked at rugs everywhere they went. Every time they heard that someone had a braided rug, they visited them and looked at the rug. They went to places in cities where braided rugs were sold, and often made. None seemed to have the coloring Estine wanted, so she told her husband she thought she would make one herself. She went to people who had braided rugs to learn how, then tried out first with small rugs.

One day she and her husband were sitting in the breakfast nook, she working on the braided rug and he just watching her. The telephone rang and it was one of those prolonged conversations. When she came back Al had picked up the rug she had been working on and done a little sewing himself. He looked up at her with, "This is fun."

From that time on it was a partnership deal. Estine did the braiding and Al did something that Estine believes is the secret of the difference in their rugs and other braided rugs. He laced them, and that, she says, is definitely a man's job. She can't do it, since a woman doesn't have the strength to make it tight enough.

On the floor of the Miles home is the large oval 10 by 12 rug which is the first big rug they made and much went into that rug. Estine seems to have a natural gift for blending colors and she wanted the rug to pick up the colors she was using in her living room. Cranberry, ruby, turquoise, shaded until, as an interior decorator from Kansas City interested in the rug said, "It looks as though the colors are painted on." It really does, too, the blending is so perfect.

But it isn't easy, Estine says, getting the right shades for the blending, or the turquoise she dyed the material as she has had to do for other colors, too, at times. She braided the turquoise material and Al started lacing. He had laced about a yard when Estine began to shake her head. "It just won't do, Al," she said. "We are going to have to take it off and let me try again," and so they did. She kept on until she was able to get the very shade that blended instead of clashed with the rest of the rug.

This is certainly not a rug for a budget home, Estine found. To make the kind of rug she wanted, old material just didn't do. It was over a period of three years that they looked for braided rugs, and then when they decided to make their own they had to try out all sorts of things. On the small rugs they found that the old material would get flat and spongy but new material didn't. So they started looking for new woolen material. The fine rug being made by the rug company they visited in Kansas City which was to be sold for $500 was of coat material and it was stitched on the machine with the stitches showing. That definitely wasn't what they wanted. They contacted every company that sells material for braided rugs and found that it came in strips not more than an inch wide. So they finally looked until they found the type of material they wanted, and they now buy it by the 50-yard bolt. The material is stiff, so they have it washed at the mill to make it soft and pliable. The material is of 1 1/2-inch strips of 16-ounce material.

Most people make braided rugs on the floor but Al and Estine have a table, designed for that purpose, a- have it in one room where they work. The rug is so tight that not even a pencil can be pushed through it. Usually the legs of furniture catch in braided rugs or go through, but not this one. It is as smooth as silk and as flat as any carpet that can be bought. It doesn't get very dirty and cleans easily with a vacuum. It is reversible with no lacing showing on either side. The lacing is done with strong, unbreakable thread which has been treated with beeswax. The material is cut wide and only three strands are used in the braiding. Those seeing it are always curious, and ask the question: "Do you use six strands, or four or three?"

Estine and Al knew they had something they liked, but when friends first started admiring the rugs they felt it was just the usual compliments and nice things people say to everyone. They didn't know they had something unusual. Then people began coming to see the rug and visitors from other places began telling them they really had something.

"If you would let me take that back to California with me," a former Sedalia said on a visit here, "I could sell it for you for $3,000." They have had opportunities to sell for big sums in Kansas City, too, but they don't want to sell that way. They want to do the selling themselves, and not through a firm.

Estine and Al have been very happy to have people come in and see their rugs, see them in the making. They have taken particular pains to try to teach other people how to make the rugs, showing them every little detail, but so far nobody has been able to learn the art that seems to be theirs alone.

"How did you get along with your rug?" Estine will ask of people she has tried to teach.

"Not at all," they reply, and usually add "It looks like a sombrero, goes right up in the middle."

Just why their own remains flat while other people have the trouble of the rug going up in the middle, Estine and Al can't explain. It takes about eight months to make a 10 by 12 rug. Of course, they work at it only in spare time, but it is always fun when they do. "It just fascinates us," said Estine, and she went on to say that Al would come home of an evening and ask if there was any place they were going if not he will say "Then we will work on the rug."

Sometimes he will say "I'll put on a strip tonight" but midnight will find him still working. "We just don't want to quit," said Estine.

Right now they are making a rug, 10 by 12, which will go in an old colonial home in Fayette. For a long time Mrs. Irvin Schnell, sister of Mrs. Miles, has been wanting a rug for her home but just couldn't find the qualities to harmonize with her furnishings. Many people have wanted to know if Mr. and Mrs. Miles would sell them a rug, so the first one they have made to sell will go to Mrs. Schnell. The important thing, said Estine, is to take the predominant color of the room for the rug and blend in other colors of the room with it. Because Mrs. Schnell has beige wall to wall carpeting on two of her large front rooms, the braided rug in the dining room will have in it brown and beige. It will pick up the colors of the cranberry and ruby glass and the United Church Women Attend May Fellowship Luncheon

The May Fellowship Luncheon held Friday at the Calvary Episcopal Church was attended by about 120 members of the United Church Women of Sedalia from various churches as follows: Assembly of God, First Christian, East Broadway Christian, Federated Congregational-Presbyterian, First Methodist, Fifth Street Methodist, Epworth Methodist, Taylor Chapel Methodist, Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed, Trinity Lutheran, Broadway Presbyterian, Quinn Chapel A.M.E., Calvary Episcopal, Goodwill Chapel, Free Will Baptist and Cole Camp.

The luncheon opened with invocation by the Rev. Edward R. Sims. A welcome was given by Mrs. E. D. Sutherland, president of the organization, and Mrs. B. Y. Edelen, general chairman presided. Co-chairman was Mrs. Martin Schupp.

Group singing of special songs was led by Mrs. George Lovercamp and Mrs. J. W. Watts at the piano, and the singing of hymns was led by Mrs. M. O. Stevens.

Prayer by Mrs. Luther Landis was followed by Mrs. Lovercamp and Mrs. Stevens singing a duet with Mrs. Watts at the piano. State officers introduced were Mrs. D. F. Richards, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Ollie Lindsey, vice-president.

The theme of the day was: "Who Forms Your Opinions?" and a very clever skit which was given in the form of a group of United Church Women trying to decide whether to have a May Fellowship Luncheon or not. Humor filled the skit as the women argued for and against and talked about rumors they had heard, quoting their relatives, their neighbors, their pastors, their newspaper and each tried to prove her point through what she had heard or read. Participating in the skit were Mrs. D. F. Richards, Mrs. Emery Meyers, Mrs. Earl Crawford, Mrs. Phillip Hoffman, Mrs. Ernest Liebel, Mrs. John Miers, Mrs. Manning DeWitt, Mrs. Clarence Becker and Mrs. Glen Cox.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. C. F. Scotten, also spoke on "Who Forms Your Opinion?" Opinions, she said, can be different. People, she pointed out, have different opinions of other people and of various things, but how do they form these opinions? Much too often they are formed by the opinions of other people and rumor. She told of the habit many have of hearing something from one neighbor about someone, then rushing over to tell another neighbor, only to find later there was no truth to the story. That, she said, is bad. You don't know what to do.

She questioned, too, how the standing of the family or the nearness of the people concerned affected the opinion of whether the names of delinquent children should be or should not be used in the paper.

When it comes to voting, she asked, will the fact that your girl or boy is through school, effect your opinion of voting on the blue of an antique ginger jar she has.

Mrs. Miles was pleased when a decorator from one of the nation's largest companies said, "This rug excels in beauty of design, harmony of color and excellence of craftsmanship," but she was just as thrilled when another man stepped on it, looked down and said, "Oh, should I step on it?" or when anybody else looks at it and says, "I like it."

A braided rug, Estine says, should be used to compliment period pieces, 18th century and early or late colonial.

"I think," said Estine, "Al and I have always had a love for rug making although we never realized it until we began with the braided rugs. I remember how we used to take trips and would stand and watch weavers. We did it when we went on a trip to Mexico. While other people were wanting to see the science building at the World's Fair in Chicago, we wanted to watch the rug making. Everywhere we went we wanted to watch the making of rugs."

"They say" Estine continued, "the Orientals always wove a story in their rugs and I can see how that can be. Al and I find ourselves remembering things that took place according to the part of the rug we were working on at the time something happened. One place in the rug reminds us of a wedding we were happy about, another the grave illness and death of a friend who was on our minds at that time, and so on, we remember this and that happened when we were at a certain place in the rug."

"The colors, too," she said, "have a meaning to the Orientals. Red means happiness, blue sincerity, very little black is used because it denotes sorrow. Seldom does the Oriental use brown. The colors in our rug, Estine pointed out, "Are mostly shades of red in the deep tones of cranberry and ruby to lighter shades of blue in the turquoise hue, and the meaning of these colors are what we try to fill our home with, happiness, sincerity and love."

Interpreting The News— Soviet Builds Up Red China Military Strength, Cuts Own

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst
Something to remember in connection with reports of cuts in Russia's armed forces is that she continues to help build up the military strength of Red China.

One of the fundamentals of Communist policy always has been to encourage wars between other nations in order to create conditions favoring its own spread. Russia already has used North Korea and Red China to conduct a war. It turned out poorly for her, and may be partly responsible for her sudden reticence in the Middle East recently when it looked like her actions might help promote another.

Nevertheless, the fact is there, that while Russia may need her own men for economic and agricultural development, and while she may need the propaganda effect of manpower cuts to promote the smile offensive, there is no over-all reduction of Communist military strength.

As Secretary Dulles said yesterday, it may be that she has reduced some, and may do some more, but the object is not peace.

There have been persistent reports since the visit of Khrushchev and Bulganin to London that Russia planned to reduce her armed forces to 1½ million men, a cut from 4½ million to about half of the number maintained by the United States. B or K may have dropped a hint where it would become public just for the sake of seeing what the reaction would be.

They would, of course, like to start a public clamor for arms reductions among the free nations. This would be very popular. It also would reduce the power of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which, along with the Marshall Plan and America's A-bomb stockpile, stopped the snowball of expansion which Russia set rolling in the first post-war years.

Russia knows that she can safely divert her strength to economic warfare without danger of military attack from the democracies.

The democracies have no such assurance.

They must fight the economic war while still carrying the burden of military establishments which could meet attack by the combined Communist forces. Only their highly developed industrial strength could make such a two-pronged effort possible.

Russia is also well aware of the central position of the Communist forces, which can operate from a self-contained position while Allied forces must man the vast Red perimeter and depend for a great part of their material on ocean transport from America. Russia is in a beautiful position for remobilization when she decides it is needed.

Circus Clowns Give Message With Capers

Clowns fill the same place in a circus program as cartoons and comic strips in a newspaper. Clowns and comic artists do, in fact, use much the same technique.

The similarity is explained by Speed Hart, producing clown with the Great Hagen Bros. 3-Ring Circus which comes to Sedalia on May 14, under the sponsorship of American Legion Post 16. The circus will be held on 16th Street across from the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp.

"Like the cartoonist," says Hart, "the circus clown must express his idea in the simplest terms possible, so that the spectator will 'see the point' at a fleeting glance. The fewer the words the better. The clown of today must be a master of pantomime, most difficult of all the expressive arts."

"The circus clown, like the cartoonist, draws his ideas from current events and from the amusing foibles of human nature. He resorts to the same means as the caricaturist; he exaggerates and distorts but does it with skill that permits that which is depicted to be recognized at once."

Hart received a letter last winter from a middle western lad seeking a job as a clown. The boy was sure he would make good because, he wrote, he was "always acting crazy and making my friends laugh." Hart's reply was kindly but not encouraging. He explained that "acting crazy" might be amusing to one's friends but utterly pointless to strangers.

Clowning, he told the ambitious young man, is an art far removed from merely "acting the fool."

Originality, he said, must be original, because they must create their own "gags." And, like fingerprints, no two clowns are ever alike. It would be unpardonable breach of ethics for one to copy another's makeup.
